Broadsword exists to spread the message of National Socialism and to provide an outlet for the British National Socialist Movement to explain its ideas and its policies.

Unlike the mainstream press or the glossy overpriced and under-supported magazines of the Marxist Left, Broadsword operates on a shoe-string budget. The editorial and production team are all unpaid volunteers and we work hard to produce Broadsword in the face of many other pressures and commitments. We say this not to excuse the late and irregular publication of the magazine but to demonstrate our willingness to get this publication out and in circulation against all the odds. This is the National Socialist spirit of 'the Struggle' and we pride ourselves on overcoming those obstacles which delay this publication and ask our readers and subscribers to bear with us. The day will come when we can a will publish not just on time, but every month of the year!

The struggle for Broadsword is symbolic of the National Socialist struggle in Britain to build up our Movement and grow.

The Raven.

THE VOICE OF NATIONAL SOCIALIST RESISTANCE

THE WEREWOLF COLUMN

"If by the instrument of government power, a people is being led towards its destruction, then rebellion is not only the right of every member of such a people—it is his duty."

Adolf Hitler—'Mein Kampf'

National Socialism is a revolutionary movement, ideologically born out of political struggle against a weak and corrupt 'Establishment'.

In Britain today the ruling political parties have made racial pride and racial awareness amongst the indigenous White population a crime— the 'thought crime of racism'

White British Nationalism is constantly under attack by the mainstream political parties, by the organs of government , by the leftist/liberal media and the over-paid functionaries of the State-sponsored Race Relations Industry. As "Broadsword" goes to press we hear that the Senior Police chiefs in the UK have declared that membership of the BNP or any other 'Far-Right' political organisation is forbidden to serving British Police officers and is grounds for instant dismissal. This is a condition of service already imposed on serving members of the Prison service. To be an active supporter of the struggle for White Survival in Britain today is to be an outlaw in all but name.

The liberals and the Left consider our ideology to be dangerous, the greatest threat to their dream of multi-culturalism, because they know that if National Socialism can take root and grow in Britain it will rally the bulk of the White British to its banners and sweep away their Marxist fantasy.

Today in Britain to be a National Socialist is the ultimate act of rebellion. National Socialist ideology is a revolution in thought. To be an active National Socialist is a complete act of rebellion. As National Socialists we must stand outside the corrupt system of 'Establishment' politics, we must encourage the youth of our country to channel their instinct for rebellion into the ultimate form of rebellion—National Socialism.

We must therefore promote our ideas as every opportunity and spread our message throughout Britain. Every BM leaflet, every poster, every sticker that is read and understood by a fellow White Briton is a blow against the system. Every BM newspaper, every copy of Broadsword magazine, every copy of a BM publication that is read and kept by a non-member is another blow against the system. Every White Briton who declares their support for BM's ideas is another victory, every White Briton who becomes an active BM supporter is a victory. Every White Briton who joins British Movement as an active member is another step towards the National Socialist revolution.

MULTI-RACIAL MADNESS

The face of multi-culturalism— April 2004—members of the Islamic group al-Muhajiroun burn the Union flag outside the Central London mosque in a move calculated to provoke the British public. Such insults to our heritage and national pride mean nothing to the left-wing and liberal elements who have foisted a multi-racial society on Our Nation.

Ulster—Multi-racial madness finds a supporter in Provisional Sinn Fein.

Gerry Adams MP has firmly planted his Marxist boots in the multi-racial camp. Considering that Mr. Adams usually presents himself as an Irish patriot and an Irish nationalist, he seems very keen to dilute the Celtic bloodlines of his country with a heady cocktail of Third World genes. In a speech in West Belfast earlier this year Gerry Adams stated, "we have ethnic communities including Moslems, Latinos, Irish travellers, West Indians, Chinese, Korean, Pakistani, Africans and Filipinos."

"Everyone who settles here is a valued member of the community whether they have lived here all their lives or less than a year."

MULTI-CULTURALISM THE EXPERIMENT THAT FAILED.

The liberal pipe-dream of a multi-racial, multi-cultural Britain was built on the ruins of post-1945 British society. A fantasy of the 1960's liberals, Left-wing social engineers and policy makers. Force-fed to the British public over the following decades by an aggressive, government sponsored Race Relations industry.

The harsh reality of ethnic tensions, racial conflict and culturally divided Britain in the first decade of the 21st Century is the living proof that the socialist idyll has failed miserably.

Multi-culturalism does not work.

More Multi-Racial Madness Stories Taken From Both Local and the National Press, Which Betray the Level of Insanity Behind the Pursuit of Multi-Culturalism.

Peterborough—May 2004— more of the joys of a multi-racial society, vehicles burned out when rival Asian gangs fought each other for several nights running.
Then a repeat performance on the weekend of July 24th and 26th 2004 at a festival organised to 'promote racial harmony ' and to celebrate Peterborough's 'cultural diversity' disintegrated into two nights of fighting across the Gladstone Street area between rival Pakistani and Iraqi gangs. At times groups of 100 people were seen fighting.
It will come as no surprise to Broadsword readers to hear that although the Police turned out in force to calm the situation and at least one person was hospitalised in the violence— no arrests were made.
The tax-payers of Peterborough will no doubt be delighted that they not only footed the bill for the week long Asian festival but also picked up the bill for policing and cleaning up after the violence.

Torso in the Thames murder Linked to Illegal Immigrant Smuggler.
Many Broadsword readers will be aware of the 'Torso in the Thames' story, when in 2001 the headless and limbless torso of a murdered five year old African boy was fished out of the river. At first Police believed the killing to be part of some vile paedophile activity but later forensic tests and scientific data pointed to a bizarre African tribal magic ritual. It is believed that the dead boy was smuggled into Britain for the express purpose of providing a victim for wealthy West Africans living in London.
Now a Nigerian mini-cab driver living in Stratford, East London , one Kingsley Ojo has been linked to the case. At Southwark Crown Court in July 2004, Ojo was jailed for four and a half years for his part in a people smuggling racket. Ojo is thought to have brought hundreds of illegal African immigrants into the UK on false papers. No stranger to false papers himself, Kingsley Ojo entered Britain in 1999, pretending to be a refugee from the civil war in Sierra Leone. Ojo sought asylum in Britain using the false name Mousa Kamara and settled in Tottenham, using the identity of a dead child to get false driving licence and passport. As soon as he had his new identity, Ojo set about building up his smuggling racket between Italy and London, many of the illegal immigrants were brought into London to work as prostitutes or as cheap domestic servants for wealthy African and Arab families settled in London.
Yet another fine example of ethic minorities 'enriching' British culture.

London A TB 'Hotspot' - Yet another example of how unchecked Third World immigration affects our nation. TB—tuberculosis, the dreadfully infectious lung disease, once eradicated in the UK, is back. Nearly half of all TB cases in Britain occur in London around 3,000 cases a year. Officially the government has admitted that Immigration, overcrowding in poor housing and the spread of HIV infection have helped TB to spread. The department for the control of infectious diseases at Great Ormond Street Hospital believes that certain strains of TB are becoming drug resistant and so are untreatable.

THE BIGGEST NATIONALIST MANIFESTATION

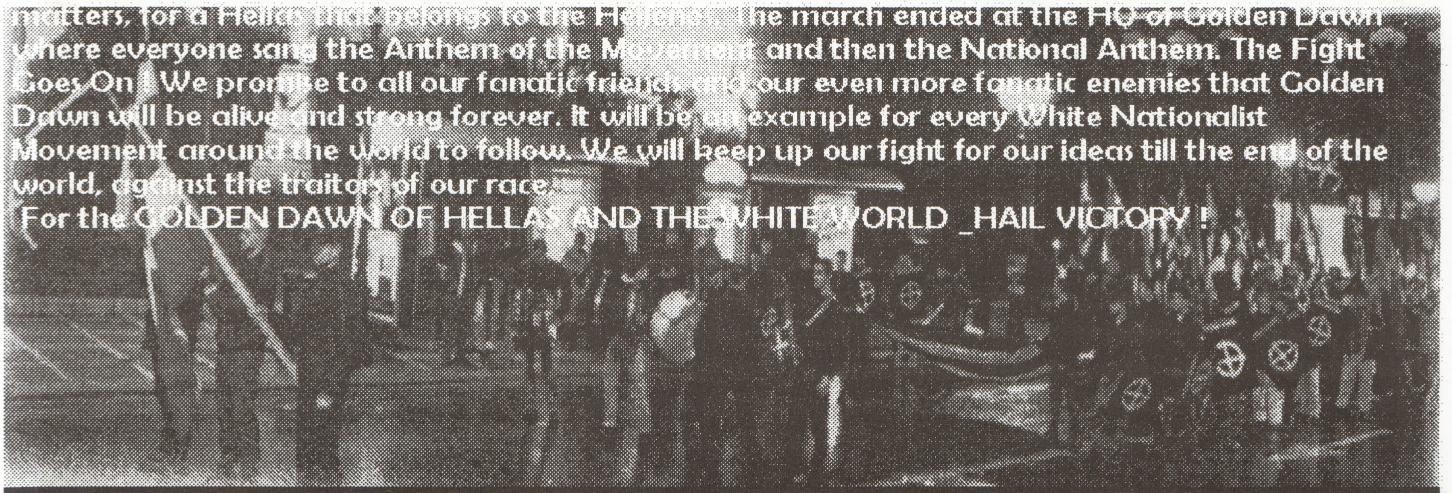
By George M.

On January 31st 2004, it was 8 years since the tragic night where 3 heroic officers of the Hellenic navy were cowardly murdered by the Turkish sub-humans on the tiny Aegean island of Imia, but the cowardly Hellenic government hushed up this incident, presenting it as an accident. On the same night that this tragedy took place 200 members of Golden Dawn protested outside Parliament against this treachery. This year Golden Dawn did not forget and honoured the memory of those heroes. But it was not the same, and to be accurate no year is the same as the previous one, because every year more and more people attend these gatherings. The 31st of January 2004 will stay very deeply embedded in the memory of all those who attended in the biggest participation Open Nationalist gathering for years. More than 2,000 Hellenic Nationalists were there, gathered at Kolokotroni Square.—Named after the hero chieftain and leader of the Hellenic Revolution against the Turks in 1821.

Here to demonstrate against the politician's treachery, the crime at Imia. From the Saturday morning members of the Youth Front were gathered to distribute leaflets explaining the reason for the demonstration. Then the guarding –team of the Movement arrived, they take care of organizing the transaction of our gatherings. From 4 o'clock in the afternoon 300 young men with flags, clubs and shields bearing the Celtic Cross were gathered, ready for every incident. About 5 strong police detachments surrounded the square in order to prevent conflict between our people and the anti-racists who were gathered 500 metres away. The TV news spread lies that there were riots and that we had tried to attack the anti-racists (they were a mix of Greeks, Albanians, Turks, Filipinos and N*rs) in order to spread fear among the people who wanted to come and join our Manifestation. Our rally normally begins at 8 o'clock in the evening, but more and more people were coming to join us in the square, which was soon packed out with people. There were many interesting speeches, the high-light was the brilliant speech by Golden Dawn's leader Nikoloas Michaloliakos who took our thoughts back 8 years and our feelings of bitterness and rage surged up within us. He announced the 'Roll of Honour' which for us is not a simple process, but a Holy Prayer to 'Summon their Souls!'. The flags were lowered and many torches were lit in this magic night and 2,000 mouths, hearing the names of the 3 brave officers shouted out "Immortals!" Everything was ready for the big march.

In front the flags of Golden Dawn, (Red banners of Blood with the Black 'Meandrous', an ancient Hellenic symbol) Hellenic White & Blue flags, and Celtic Cross flags to manifest our Faith. Behind them came the Youth of our Movement with drums playing a militant rhythm, followed by a crowd of 2000 Nationalists, that were spread like a wave in the central streets of Athens. Solid blocks with placards and flags flying in the winter wind. At the right and left of the march were young men with clubs and shields, guarding the march. People of every age, mainly young, men and women, shouting with all their strength of their souls, slogans against the politicians, against the Turks, against immigrants. Voices of a world that expresses the Will of the True Hellenes. The Police force would not let us reach the parliament building to lay a wreath at the Monument of the Unknown Soldier, so the march continued to the headquarters of the Golden Dawn. Here the previous slogans were added with slogans against the USA, against the capitalist European Union and its Jewish masters, against the two biggest political parties of Hellas, the Socialists and the Liberals, against the System, slogans called for workers' justice, for national matters, for a Hellas that belongs to the Hellenes. The march ended at the HQ of Golden Dawn where everyone sang the Anthem of the Movement and then the National Anthem. The Fight Goes On ! We promise to all our fanatic friends and our even more fanatic enemies that Golden Dawn will be alive and strong forever. It will be an example for every White Nationalist Movement around the world to follow. We will keep up our fight for our ideas till the end of the world, against the traitors of our race.

For the GOLDEN DAWN OF HELLAS AND THE WHITE WORLD _HAIL VICTORY !



Our Ancestors

Boudicca Warrior Queen of the Iceni

Boudicca was born around 30 AD in the Celtic tribal lands of what modern Britain calls East Anglia. Some records say that her name Boudicca was taken from the Celtic Goddess Boudiga, goddess of Victory.

In 48 or 49 AD Boudicca was married to Prasutagus, King of the Iceni tribe, and she bore him two daughters. The Iceni were a cultured and proud people, noted for their skill with horses, the image of the horse appears on the silver coins used by the tribe.

Unfortunately for the Iceni, King Prasutagus became sick and died in 60 AD, although Boudicca should have ruled in his place until her daughters were old enough to inherit the throne, the Roman authorities seized the royal estates and announced their intention to rule the Iceni. Boudicca challenged the Roman officials but to her cost, she was arrested and publicly flogged, her daughters Camorra and Tasca were gang-raped by Roman soldiers. The insult to the Celtic tribes and the Iceni in particular could not be more apparent, the Roman occupiers of Britain had pushed the Britons too far.

Boudicca did not let the Romans treatment of her or her daughters crush her spirit, instead she raised the Iceni in revolt and set out to break the chains of Roman occupation.

The Iceni revolt was joined by elements of other British tribes in the region, principally the Trinivantes . Boudicca's forces swept across the eastern provinces, attacking and destroying the important Roman regional centres at Camulodunum (Colchester) and Verulamium (St. Albans), driving out the populations and razing buildings to the ground.

The Roman reports of the time speak of massacres and widespread slaughter of Romans and Romanised Britons, Boudicca herself is recorded as having prisoners sacrificed to the Celtic Goddess Andrasta.

The next target was Londinium (London) which fell to Boudicca's army in a firestorm of killing and burning, prisoners were beheaded on the banks of the Thames and the severed heads were cast into the water as votive offerings to the spirit of the great river. At the height of her revolt Boudicca led an army of over 100,000 Britons on the march into the midlands to confront Suetonius Paullinus, Roman military governor of Britain, hundreds if not thousands of women and children followed her army in the baggage train. In Celtic custom a tribal queen would lead her warriors into battle. The Romans were terrified by her reputation as a war-leader and her determination to eradicate Roman influence from Britain by fire and the sword. The Roman chroniclers described her as a tall, fierce, proud young woman, her auburn hair worn long, down to her hips, wrapped in the plaid of her tribe, with a heavy gold torc of the Celtic aristocracy worn around her neck.

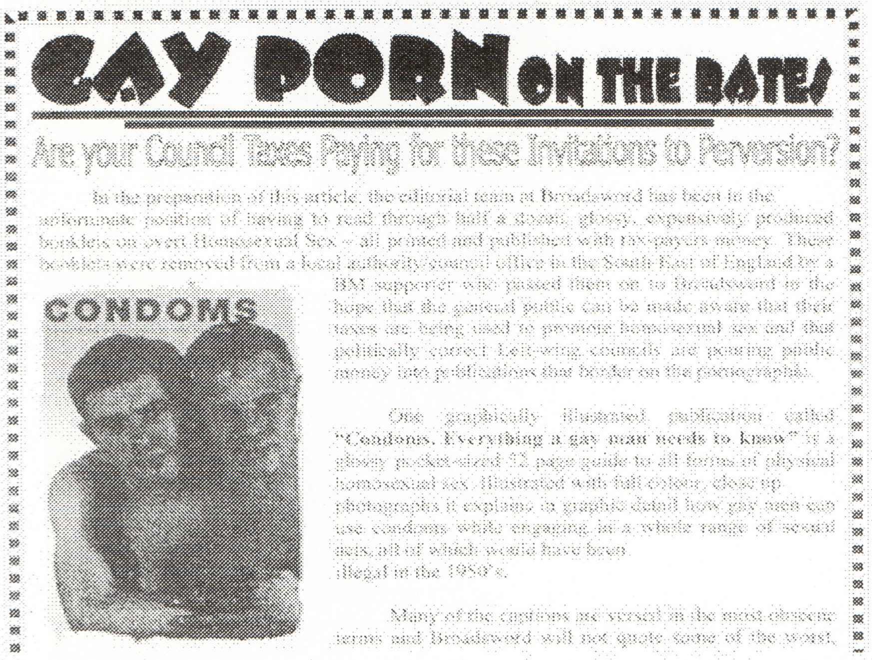
The final battle was a disaster, Boudicca's warriors and the tribal levies were routed by the highly trained and disciplined Roman legions, her army shattered, with an estimated 80,000 killed, Boudicca could not contemplate the disgrace of capture, the Romans would parade her in chains through the streets of Rome, humiliating her before the Roman Emperor before publicly executing her. So Boudicca took poison, dying a free Briton rather than a Roman slave, there are many myths and legends about the site of her grave, but one version popular with Victorian writers is that her remains lie somewhere under the foundations of King's Cross Station. Her memory is recalled by the chariot statue in Westminster, ironically the site of much slaughter by her vengeful forces.

In years gone by British school children knew her as 'Boadicea' a mistranslation of her name by Victorian scholars. In modern British schools few children are taught about such inspiring figures from Britain's ancient past.

Footnote: As Broadsword goes to press there are press reports of preparations to turn the story of Queen Boudicca into a Hollywood film, the Warrior Queen of the Iceni is to receive the kind of 'Americanised' re-writing of history that characterised the Mel Gibson version of the Scottish hero William Wallace in the film 'Braveheart'.

BROADSWORD'S CAMPAIGN

AGAINST 'GAYS ON THE RATES'



GAY PORN ON THE RATES!

Are your Council Taxes Paying for these Invitations to Perversion?

In the preparation of this article, the editorial team at Broadsword has been in the unfortunate position of having to read through half a dozen, glossy, expensively produced booklets on overt Homosexual Sex – all printed and published with tax-payers money. These booklets were removed from a local authority/council office in the South East of England by a BM supporter who passed them on to Broadsword in the hope that the general public can be made aware that their taxes are being used to promote homosexual sex and that politically correct Left-wing councils are pouring public money into publications that border on the pornographic.

One graphically illustrated publication called "Condoms. Everything a gay man needs to know" is a glossy pocket-sized 52 page guide to all forms of physical homosexual sex. Illustrated with full colour, close up photographs it explains in graphic detail how gay men can use condoms while engaging in a whole range of sexual acts, all of which would have been illegal in the 1950's.

Many of the captions are versed in the most obscene terms and Broadsword will not quote some of the worst, Broadsword attack on 'Gay Porn on the Rates' brings in a flood of letters of support for our stance and reports of other outrages where local tax-payers have had to foot the bill for sexual deviants.

This is how Broadsword number 27 reported on the use of local tax-payer's money to fund the production of sexually explicit and pornographic literature for homosexuals.

THE ABOVE ARTICLE APPEARED IN THE Rossendale Free Press in Lancashire where complaints by local people forced the closure of a notorious public lavatory used by homosexuals as a place for 'cottaging' - that is 'Gay sex in public toilets. Until a local Nationalist put pressure on the local press—nothing had happened even though the police knew about the situation.

HOW MANY HOMOSEXUAL MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT ARE THERE?

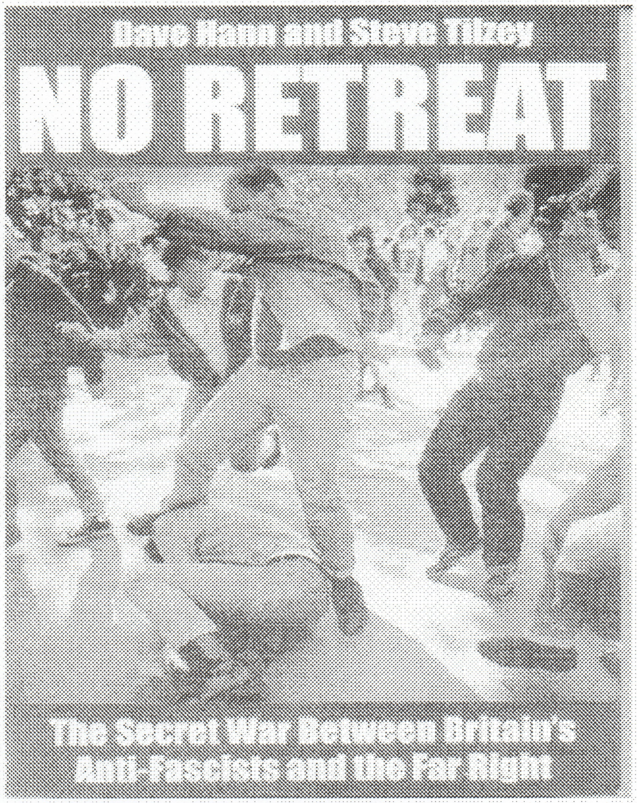
PETER MANDELSON THE NEW EUROPEAN COMMISSIONER IS THE MOST NOTORIOUS —BUT THERE ARE MANY MORE.

National Socialism the guardian of Britain's traditional moral standards. British Movement calls for a crusade against moral degeneracy. The time has come to break the grip of the 'Gay Mafia' on Westminster politics.

NO RETREAT FROM THE TRUTH



As might be expected this unpleasant little book is full of praise for the thugs and psychopaths of Red Action and AFA, but it is riddled with mistakes about personalities and individuals on the 'Far-Right'. A number of references to confrontations with British Movement are guilty of mistaken identification of certain activists and of course Red Action never lose a fight!

The Story of Illegal Marxist Violence in the 1970's and 1980's as told by two former Red Action thugs.

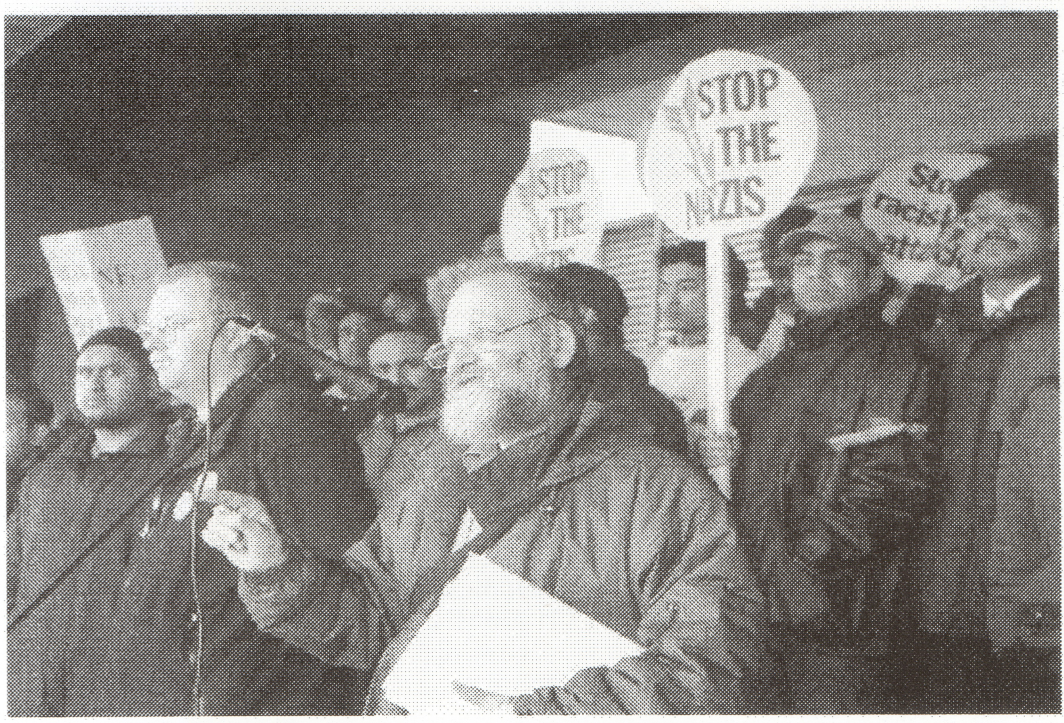
Broadsword is aware that other British Nationalist publications have already written in depth about this book since its publication at the end of last year, but we feel that there is much more to be said about the levels of violence openly boasted of by two former SWP and Anti-Fascist Action stalwarts, the level of conspiracy to commit serious offences, the burglaries and vandalism and the insights the book offers into how the 'Reds' plan their demonstrations and street violence.

Embarrassing too are the revelations offered into the links between supposedly 'respectable' Left-wingers and the pro-IRA, Stalinist thugs on the Marxist fringes, exposed too are the links to the "Searchlight" network and their spies and stooges. Steve Tilzey openly talks of his work for "Searchlight" and how the "Searchlight" network who organize the infiltration of moles and spies, and of course, " Searchlight would lend a hand with any finances".

Where does the Searchlight organisation get hold of the money it needs to run such operations?

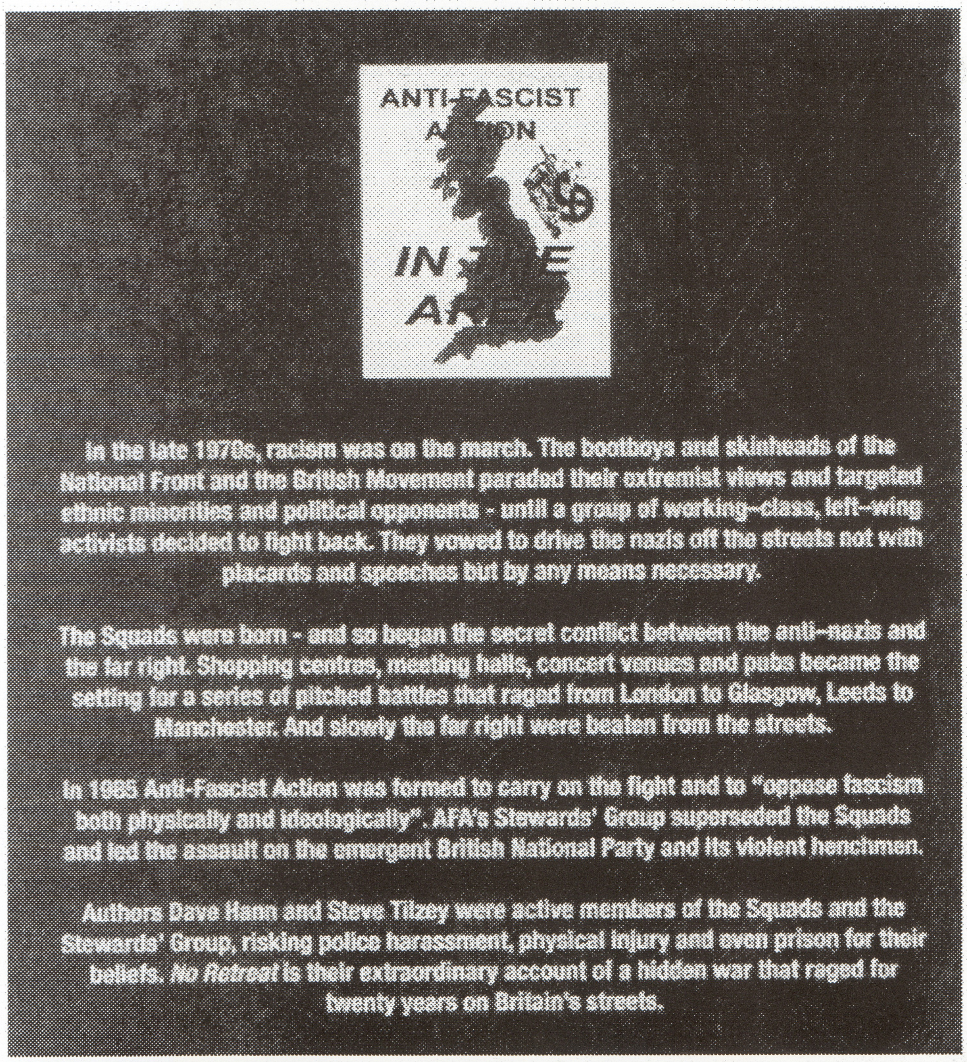
Unfortunately Tilzey and Hann do not let that information out in print.

A familiar sight in the street politics of the 1990's. A demonstration on the streets of London, Red Action/Anti-Fascist Action—the violent Red front organisation of IRA/ Irish Republicans, ex-SWP 'squadists', Marxist thugs, immigrant street gangs and assorted Anarchist 'crusties' and New Age travellers. Photograph supplied by T4.



The man at the microphone is Mike Luft - 'Searchlight's man in Greater Manchester, currently the driving force behind OUARC Oldham United Against Racism.
For over three decades Luft has been involved in extreme Left-wing organisations and anti-racist campaigns around Manchester and Oldham. A sworn enemy of National Socialism and British Nationalism, Luft has for many years acted as a 'Searchlight' link-man in the North-West of England, supplying the 'anti-fascist' organisation with information, photographs and other bits and pieces of local intelligence.

A descendant of Romanian Jewish immigrants, Mike Luft's role in supporting Anti-Fascist Action is acknowledged in 'No Retreat' where he is referred to simply as "Mike L."
Photograph supplied by T4.



In the late 1970s, racism was on the march. The bootboys and skinheads of the National Front and the British Movement paraded their extremist views and targeted ethnic minorities and political opponents - until a group of working-class, left-wing activists decided to fight back. They vowed to drive the nazis off the streets not with placards and speeches but by any means necessary.

The Squads were born - and so began the secret conflict between the anti-nazis and the far right. Shopping centres, meeting halls, concert venues and pubs became the setting for a series of pitched battles that raged from London to Glasgow, Leeds to Manchester. And slowly the far right were beaten from the streets.

In 1985 Anti-Fascist Action was formed to carry on the fight and to "oppose fascism both physically and ideologically". AFA's Stewards' Group superseded the Squads and led the assault on the emergent British National Party and its violent henchmen.

Authors Dave Hann and Steve Tilzey were active members of the Squads and the Stewards' Group, risking police harassment, physical injury and even prison for their beliefs. No Retreat is their extraordinary account of a hidden war that raged for twenty years on Britain's streets.

The back cover notes of "No Retreat"
Written in typical Left-wing style, exaggerating the virtues, selfishness, courage and heroic qualities of the self-styled heroes of the working-class.
In reality a fiction to mask the violent, psychopathic tendencies of Trotskyites and Stalinists, dedicated followers of the creed of "Red Terror".
Nothing is said here of the Irish Republican terrorists and fund raisers operating in the ranks of Red Action. Nothing too about the Manchester gangsters and drug dealers who provided muscle and money for the thugs and spies of the AFA network.

Condemned in their own words

If there is one lasting impression to be gained from the exaggerated ramblings of former Red Action thugs Hann and Tilzey it is the constant thread of criminal conspiracy running through the British anti-fascist scene.

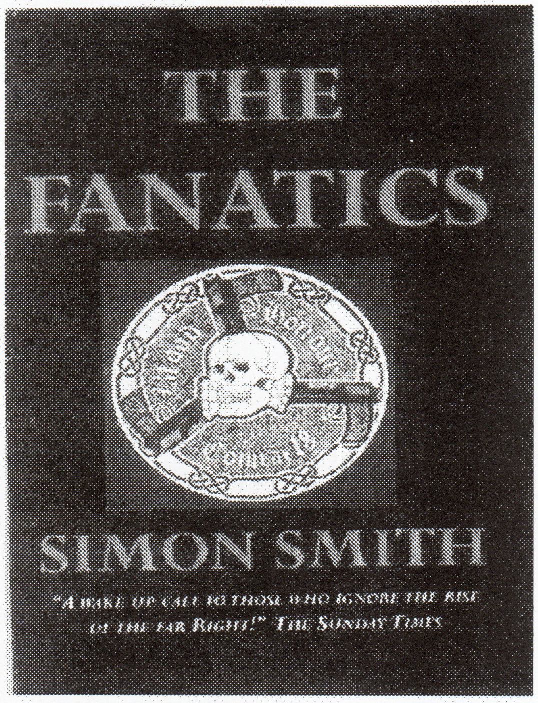
" Throughout history, to be effective in fighting the fascists usually means breaking the law. Thus the actions of the anti-fascist streetfighters will always be seen as dangerously radical in the eyes of the state, especially when it involves a form of behaviour—physical violence."

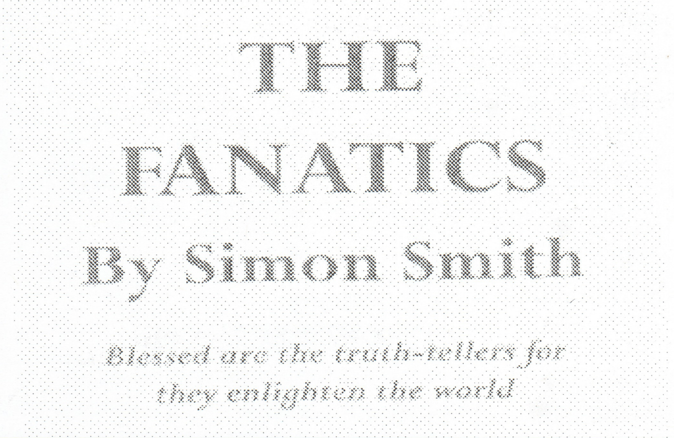
So there you have it, in their own words and the Leftwing media have the cheek to describe the street activists of British Movement as thugs!

This is how AFA/Red Action liked to portray Themselves in their publications.
The reality was that very few blacks or Asians were actively involved in AFA on a regular basis. Moreover this particular image was quickly dropped by AFA under pressure from their more 'respectable' middle-class fund raisers and backers. "No Retreat" admits that Left-wing professionals were frightened off by Red Action's violent image.

Yet More Fantasy Stories

Hot on the heals of "No Retreat" comes yet another paperback version of modern political history. How on earth Mr. Smith managed to persuade the publishers to fork out the money to pay for this glossy packaged collection of fantasy, distortions and self-promotion we will never know.



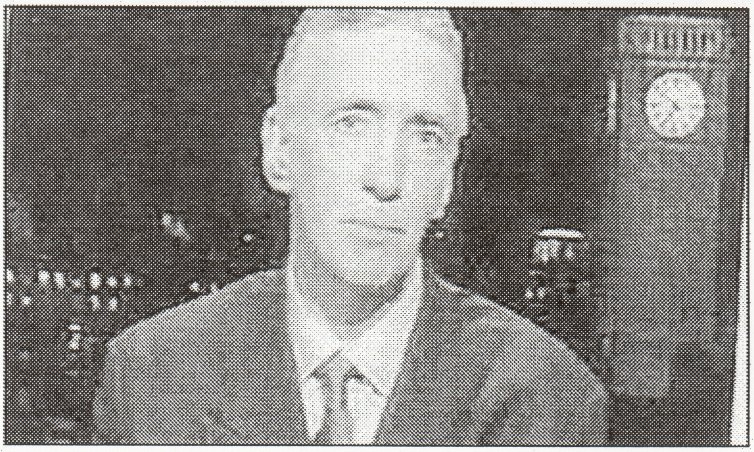


If ever there was a misplaced quotation on the front page of a book this has to be the one.
"Truth-tellers" has absolutely no place in this book.

Yet another collection of highly imaginative stories from someone who was 'inside the Far-Right' and then turned their back on the Nationalist cause only to sell their story to the media. How many more such publications can there be out there?
Once again there is much coverage given to British Movement and BM activities and personalities and once again genuine BM activists 'who were there' have read the fiction and recognise the lies and distortions produced by a well paid but barely credible writer. Yet still the media is prepared to pay out for people to produce this rubbish.

The Lying New Statesman

It is not often that the British news-media hand the NS or White Nationalist movements ready evidence of their twisted versions of activities by the so-called "Far-Right", but on this occasion a left-wing journalist was so consumed by his own arrogance and determination to produce a story discrediting the politics he hated that he failed to cover his tracks and his lies back fired on him and the publication he wrote for in spectacular fashion.



" Weimar in Wales"

This is what Jack Jameson claimed had happened.

Jameson stated that he had been driving through mid-Wales on a winters night in early 2004 when his car broke down on the outskirts of the town of Welshpool. Leaving his car at a garage for repair, Jameson said that he went into the nearest pub for a drink only to find the place was a watering hole for BNP supporters. He commented on their swastika tattoos, their "Sieg Heils" and salutes, their singing of 'Nazi' marching songs, the tolerant landlord told Jameson that they were good lads really. Then low and behold the jukebox played the old German National anthem "Deutschland Uber Alles" and of course the BNP supporters in the pub all sang along, word perfect in German.

Naturally the left-wing Jameson could not get out quickly enough. His story then appeared in the next edition of the soft-Left magazine "The New Statesman" as evidence of what it was like in a town dominated by the BNP .

The magazine presented the article as a true story, eye-witnessed by Jack Jameson.

Jack Jameson the 'free-lance' journalist behind the fictional Welshpool 'nazi-pub' story. Under pressure Jameson admitted the article was not a news story after all, but in his words, " an allegorical story. "

It what can only be described as liberal double-speak Jameson tried to excuse his writings as "it is trying by use of allegory and symbolism, to draw a comparison between certain happenings in mid Wales and what happened in Weimar, Germany in 1933".

Oh really? Then why did he not say so in his original article instead of presenting it as a true story?

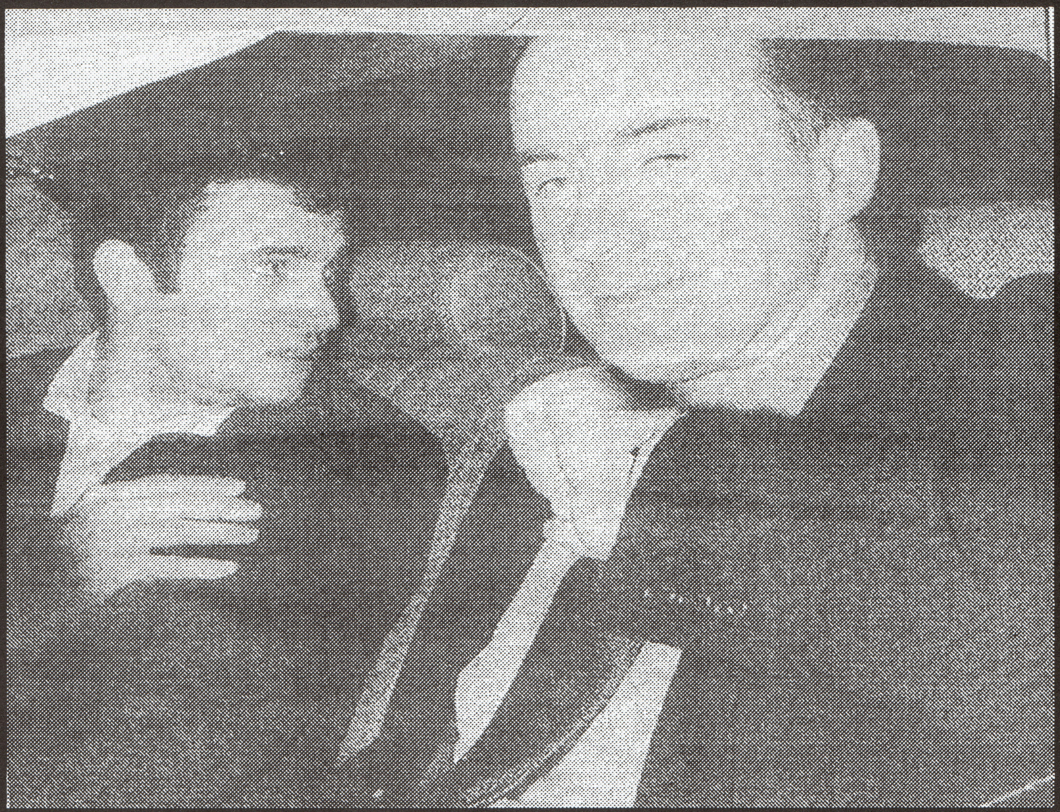
This is what really happened

Jameson did not go to Wales at all, but wrote the story in London, knowing that BNP Chairman Nick Griffin lies near Welshpool. Unfortunately for Jameson, as soon as the story appeared the Commission for Racial Equality, in true Stalinist style leapt on the article and demanded that the Dyfed-Powys Police investigate, identify the pub, and shut it down. The town's publicans' association were angry and also wanted to know which pub it was. Not surprisingly Jameson could not be contacted. Nevertheless his editor, Peter Wilby stood by the story and promised to obtain the information for the Police and CRE. Only to have to retract his statement a few days later and admit it was not true.

A shame faced Jameson was virtually dragged onto BBC TV news to admit the story was fiction.

New Labour's Prince of Darkness

PETER MANDELSON—Britain's new EU Commissioner. Peter Mandelson, architect of New Labour, close friend of Prime Minister Tony Blair—twice resigned from his post as a Cabinet Minister. Previously Labour MP for Hartlepool.



Known throughout the British tabloid press as 'Mandy' - here is one photograph that Peter Mandelson would not approve of . This photograph appeared in a national newspaper showing 'Mandy' in the company of his homosexual lover, the young Brazilian Reinaldo da Silva. It is rumoured that Mandelson arranged a 'fast-track' UK residence visa for the Brazilian several years ago.

Mandelson is known for his expensive tastes and epicurean dining habits. No doubt his new post on the EU gravy-train will allow him full access to Europe's more expensive restaurants.

It is now rumoured that as an EU Commissioner, Peter Mandelson will receive a massive housing allowance and tax-free expenses on top of his new £145,000 a year salary.

Plus a £75,000 car and chauffeur and a £4,000 allowance for his 'spouse' the lovely Reinaldo.

'Mandy' should do well as an EU Commissioner, he has plenty of experience at international meetings, after all, Broadsword seems to remember that he attended a Bilderberg conference just a couple of years ago.

Now he has been promoted to the EU, Mandelson will have to give up his seat as MP for Hartlepool. Bad news for Downing Street—it seems that Tony Blair's office wanted to put forward Number 10's aide Patrick Diamond, a former special advisor to Peter Mandelson (whatever that means!) as candidate for the safe Labour seat, but the local Labour party up in Hartlepool want to choose their own candidate.

Channel 4 and the Keighley Story

Gutless Channel 4 television caved in to political pressure

Television in Britain is supposed to act as a public information service, reporting honestly and openly about matters of public interest.

Once again British public broadcasting has been censored by the forces, which seek to protect the advance of multi-culturalism against any kind of obstacle or criticism.
As many readers of Broadsword will already be aware, in May 2004 Channel 4 TV had been scheduled to broadcast an investigative documentary about the very serious situation in some parts of West Yorkshire where Asian men were found to be grooming young white British girls for sex. Most of the girls identified were under-age and the problem is not confined to West Yorkshire, but the cases in the documentary were all centred on Bradford and Keighley.

The broadcast was pulled in late May at the instigation of the Chief Constable of West Yorkshire Colin Cramphorn who was worried that if the programme was screened, "The broadcast will increase community tension across Bradford with the consequent risk that it will provoke public disorder."

The Chief Constable also objected to the timing of the broadcast during the run up period to the local elections on June 10th, for no other reason than the documentary could act in favour of the British National Party BNP which was standing ten candidates in the area covered by the programme. However this part of the cover-up failed because the BNP successfully gained four council seats in the Bradford Metropolitan area, including one in Keighley.

But, in their desperation to prevent any further gains by the BNP from the situation and terrified of a violent reaction from Keighley and Bradford's massive Asian communities, the liberal media machine was thrown into overdrive with press statements and newspaper articles denouncing the original findings of the documentary and denying the findings of social services, suddenly half those involved in the sex cases were White men. Desperate to protect their multi-racial ideal stories had to be created to take the heat off the Asian communities and through typical leftist double-speak the fault had to lie with the White community after all.

This kind of media corkscrew and the police interference is political pressure of the highest order and goes to show that the forces of the State will stop at nothing to protect the great multi-racial experiment and any kind of threat or dissent will be silenced by whatever means the Establishment thinks fitting.

White and Asian men involved in sex ring

Bradford police attack reports of documentary as inciting hatred

Vikram Dodd

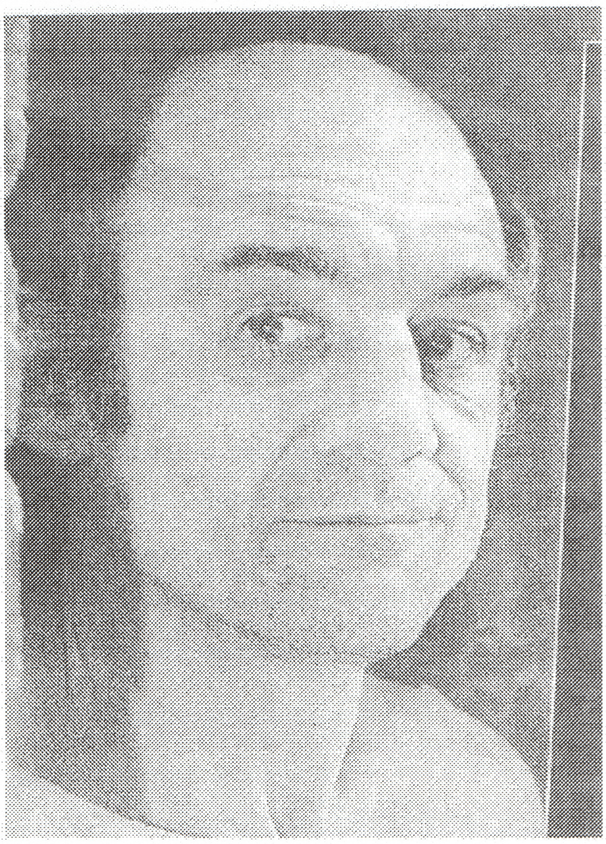
This was how the liberal mainstream press rallied to protect multi-culturalism. This article appeared in the Guardian on May 22nd, the newspaper generally supported the Chief Constable's stance, and reported that the police were considering prosecuting some tabloid newspapers for their coverage of the case. In a deliberate attempt to bully certain daily newspapers into toeing the multi-culturalist line, Chief Constable Colin Cramphorn said that a Daily Mirror headline , which said "Asian perverts show axed in race riots fear" could face prosecution for inciting racial hatred. Considering that the Daily Mirror has always defended multi-culturalism and attacked British Nationalism this was a very heavy handed threat indeed.

The Unacceptable Face of the Conservative Party

TORY COUNCILLOR IS A CONVICTED PAEDOPHILE

Tory leader Michael Howard, the Home Secretary in a previous Conservative government is MP for the constituency of Folkestone.
So you might think that the Conservative party in Folkestone would be keen on law and order.
Yet in June 2004 at the local elections, the Tories put forward Robert Richdale, a 54 year old unemployed chef as a council candidate.

Robert Richdale won his council seat as a Conservative on Folkestone town council, Robert Richdale has a history of criminal offences dating back to 1963, over 65 convictions to his credit. The new Conservative councillor has previous convictions for theft, forgery, deception, assault, repeated convictions for drug and drug related offences, and in 1975, causing death by dangerous driving. Most serious of all are the sexual offences; Conservative councillor Robert Richdale has spent time in prison for indecent assaults on underage girls, the most recent offences being unlawful sex with a 14 year old girl in 1997, Robert Richdale was 47 years old at the time.



Conservative Robert Richdale, elected to Folkestone council— a man with convictions dating back over 40 years .

If this is the moral calibre of a Conservative councillor in the Tory leaders constituency, then what kind of people are the Conservatives putting forward in less high profile seats?

The Conservative Party in Folkestone was thrown into a panic when a national newspaper discovered Richdale's background and set about expelling him from the local Tory party.

Another Tory Sex Case Sent Down

The Central Criminal Courts at the Old Bailey - July 20th 2004

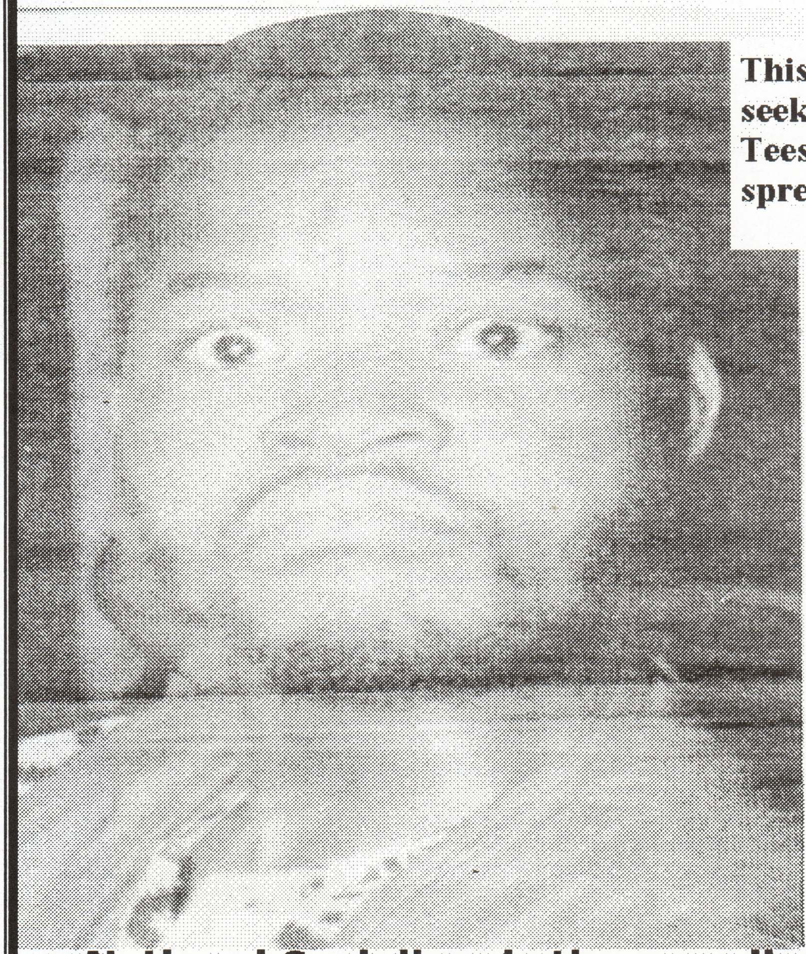
Stephen Mertens, the 53 year old former secretary of Hackney and South Shoreditch Conservative Association was being sentenced for the repeated rape of a six year old girl way back in the summer of 1990. After his initial arrest in May 1990, Merten had skipped bail and absconded from London, moving to Bristol where he set up a new life under a false identity.
Arrested in July 2003 on another charge he was identified when his DNA was matched to national criminal records.
The former Conservative party official admitted two counts of rape, two counts of indecent assault on a child and charges of indecent assault on another young girl. How many more paedophiles are there lurking in the Tory ranks?

THIS IS WHAT HAPPENS WHEN THERE IS UNCONTROLLED THIRD WORLD IMMIGRATION INTO OUR COUNTRY.

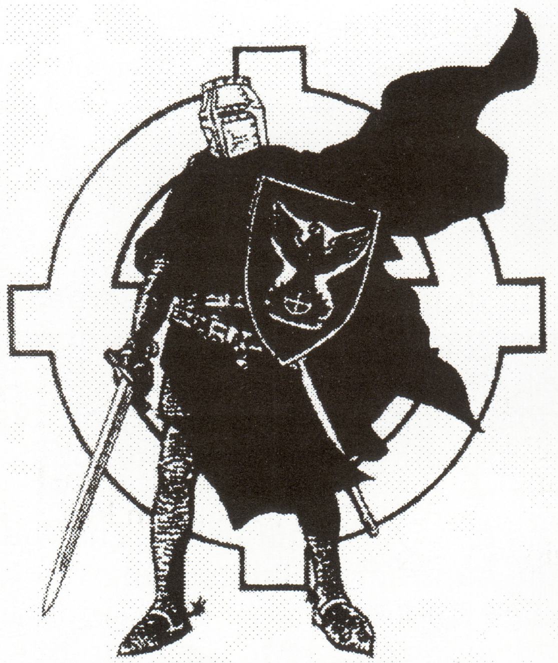
May 2004 Feston Konzani, a 28 year old asylum seeker from Malawi was imprisoned for 10 years at Teeside Crown Court for deliberately passing AIDS onto three women through unprotected sex. The Court were told that he may hae spread the disease to as many as 50 people.

Asylum-seekers from Sub-Saharan Africa are bringing HIV, AIDS and TB into Britain.

100,000 asylum-seekers and 'refugees' have been dispersed out of London and across the UK since April 2004, these people have not been medically screened for infectious diseases.



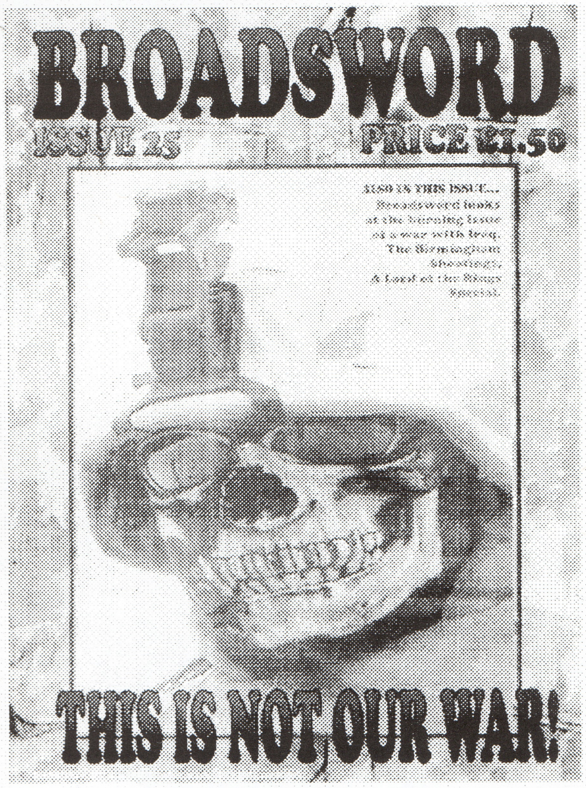
This is Feston Koonzani the asylum seeker from Malawi who was convicted at Teeside Crown Court of deliberately spreading AIDS.



National Socialism is the guardian of Britain's traditional moral standards.

British Movement calls for a crusade against the unchecked flood of HIV positive immigrants into Britain especially those women smuggled into Britain from Africa and Asia to work as prostitutes. The Blair government has ignored calls by health professionals to screen immigrants for HIV.

RADICAL OPINION



Broadsword issue number 25 clearly stated British Movement's opposition to the war in Iraq. Unfortunately a number of BM's supporters in the Armed Forces have found themselves fighting in Iraq for a cause they know to be wrong. Broadsword salutes the bravery of Britain's Soldiers, sailors and airmen, here we reprint a letter sent to Broadsword by a serving soldier. (Some details of his report have been changed to protect his identity)

"The tour of Iraq is going well so far for everyone here, we as a Battalion have had so far a handful of casualties (dead and wounded), numerous minor injuries from anything from riots with petrol bombs being thrown at us, to RPG attacks on our vehicles, gunfire on foot patrols and vehicle patrols. I can honesty see us sustaining more injuries and hopefully no more deaths.

There were savage attacks in Baghdad last week, where 4 civilians were beaten to death and dragged through the streets, then hung from a bridge. I can only hope that that type of incident does not reach down to Basra.

As I said, the tour is going well, but I cannot stop thinking, What the hell are we doing here? I am currently on camp security for a tented camp which is half empty of troops. The contract for the tents runs out this month, so instead of taking them down, we have got to provide security for the civilians who maintain the tents and equipment. The American company who owns the tents and holds the contract is Halliburton, which as you know is owned by George Bush's crony Dick Cheney.

Looking forward to finishing this tour in one piece and getting back to the motherland. All my best to the team.

The Warrior.

"Expulsion is the method which, in so far as we have been able to see, will be the most satisfactory and lasting. There will be no mixture of populations to cause endless trouble. A clean sweep will be made". That was Winston Churchill speaking in 1945 about the removal of the populations of ethnic Germans from Eastern Europe. No whining about human-rights there. So with this historical example of human population control, as approved by a British Prime Minister as our model, a future British Movement government will expel the non-white communities settled in Britain.

BUILDING AN N.S. FUTURE

Creating the Tools and Conditions to Build a National Socialist Alternative.

Taking the first steps.
The first step towards building a National Socialist society is to create an alternative to the corrupt, decadent and materialistic society which currently surrounds us.
To do that we need guidelines and the tools to do the job, so British Movement has begun to set out a series of publications which over time will offer those alternatives.
The first such publication is the 'British Movement Family Book'. This publication has taken the original 1930's 'SS Family Book' as its model and has reset traditional British folk traditions and celebrations into a National Socialist framework.
By regaining our roots and heritage we can begin to break away from the chains of the society that binds us and reclaim the culture which created our Nation before the present system polluted it.
Returning to our roots is the first step towards regaining contact with the Blood and Soil of our country and our Folk.
Over time this first edition will be revised and expanded to reflect the growth of the alternative NS society and the strength our people can take from a renaissance of a British folk community with a clear political foundation.

What Some National Socialists have said about the 'British Movement Family Book'.

"The 'Family Book' is excellent and smack on. A truly perfect direction for the Movement to take. In fact, I believe this is THE only direction to take. Well done.! "
(BM Organiser)

"Thank you for sending me the copy of the 'British Movement Family Book' . I think that the publication is a fine idea as conducive to the folk community which is the heart and soul of National Socialists."

Colin Jordan. Veteran British National Socialist and founder of British Movement.

The BM Family Book is a 20 page A4 publication which outlines the most important festivals for a British 'Folk Calendar' and is the first step towards an NS Folk Community.
Copies of the BM Family Book are available from Broadsword price £3.00 inc. p&p

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Dear Broadsword,
My thoughts go out to our troops abroad, who are in Iraq, caught in a mess caused by ZOG—USA.
Our troops should be back home defending this nation and doing our own version of 'urban clearance', dealing with the drug-dealers, pimps and other anti-social elements who destroy the quality of life for many of our decent folk.
Only a BM government would have the will to take this kind of direct action, and I guess it would take a whole generation to create a true NS state. But the point is our cause is both long term and unselfish. We will not benefit but we hope that our grandchildren will. Victory will be ours.

Dear Editor Broadsword,
I am sending you with these few lines, an article I wrote in hope that you will publish it. I realise that you may be busy but I would greatly appreciate it if you would be so kind to write me a line or two so that at least I will know this has reached you safely and found you well.
Good new is that the attorneys have filed my first appeal. It is 458 pages long and there are two volumes of supporting material as well. The bad news is that in spite of how good it is, it will be denied. It will take a few years yet before my case has gotten through the legal system. From what I have read of the appeal it sounds very very good and it looks like the attorney put a lot of work into it. Write back soon.

Editor's note,
Jack Friend's article will appear in Broadsword Issue No 29.

To the Editor of Broadsword,
After watching the BBC's investigative documentary "The Secret Agent" <15th July 2004> it made me feel proud that White Nationalists are standing up for the White race of Great Britain in the fight against the wicked, vicious faith of Islam.
The Labour Party is trying to outlaw religious hatred in Law, at the behest of Muslim organisations, but did they not realise that the war in Iraq was a racist war?
What with 15,000 mainly Iraqi civilians maimed or killed.
Mainstream politicians believe that the war in Iraq was a success because it only caused a limited loss of life, but in terms of real damage done and actual Muslims killed, Tony Blair (PM) should be brought to justice.
The BBC documentary made a big thing about one White Nationalist attacking one Asian Muslim. Tony Blair has helped to kill and maim over 15,000 Iraqi Muslims.

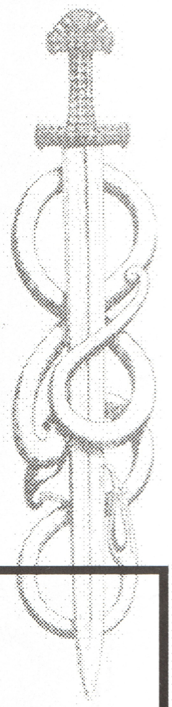
END NOTES



Cashing in on Euro-2004

Never slow to cash-in on an opportunity the professional anti-racists moved in on the England Euro-2004 campaign. Hardly a day has gone by during the tournament where some left-wing or liberal journalist has thrust an image of a black or Asian 'England' supporter draped in the Cross of St. George.
The desperate search by these champions of multi-culturalism for 'positive images'; the utter nonsense in gushing articles in the "Guardian" and the "Daily Mirror" about non-white England supporters "re-claiming the flag from the racists and the far-Right"; the exaggerated stories which seek to prove that a group of a dozen middle-class Asians wearing England shirts in a bar in Portugal somehow proves that so-called 'British-Asians' are now patriotic Englishmen.
Of course the professionals were out there guaranteeing their face on camera for the BBC, proving once again that 'racism' is a problem, but those heroes of multi-racial Britain in organisations like "Kick it Out" (The anti-racism in football campaigners) are out there in Portugal "challenging" those negative attitudes and "reclaiming the flag for everyone" <whatever that might mean>
However as with all such left-wing campaigns there is the sinister side, Piara Power the spokes-person for Kick it Out was out and about in Portugal with his little team of helpers and agitators and admitted to the BBC that,
"Members have taken photos of fans in offensive t-shirts including one which said 'England – no asylum-seekers' and Powers associate Leon Mann was equally quick to point out "Some songs in the fans' repertoire – such as "No surrender to the IRA" and "10 German bombers" – remain jingoistic, politically incorrect and offensive to some."
So there you have it once again the creeping poison of liberal thinking behind the weasel words of a committed multi-racialist. Broadsword asks – for what reason are these people taking photographs of England supporters wearing "offensive t-shirts" and what will the leftists of Kick it Out do with those photographs?
Where there are Marxists the tendency towards secret police tactics is never far away.

Bilderberg - 50 Years of Conspiracy Theory?
Or 50 Years of International Manipulation?

June 2004 saw the 50th gathering of the Bilderberg group.
The first secret meeting was held in Leiden, Holland in 1954 and the power-brokers who joined the Bilderberg have met in a different location every year since. For 50 years the bankers, diplomats, politicians and industrialists have met to rub shoulders with intelligence chiefs and 'global operators', the list of delegates this year included US Senator John Edwards, president of the World Bank James Wolfensohn, chief executive of British Petroleum (BP) John Browne and a representative of Microsoft chief Bill Gates to name a few.
Always the Bilderberg meet in secret, closed sessions, always behind a screen of tight security, always out of the public and media gaze, and always they deny that the Bilderberg group is any kind of conspiracy.
